

Background and Analysis: "Roman Poets of the Republic" by William Sellar (1881)

Post by "Joshua" of July 8, 2020 at 6:40 PM

Thank you for your perspective, Don! It is a big request. On the other hand, I have to assume that digitization is a constant and ongoing project for them. It might be interesting to know how they go about selecting which texts to start with—as I mentioned above, they've already scanned at least one Lucretius manuscript!