

Musings on A Quick Statement of "What It Means to Be An Epicurean"

Post by "Joshua" of July 15, 2020 at 2:21 PM

It might be worth considering here the very words that were reportedly chosen to hang over the entrance to the Garden itself. Not to select them, necessarily; not if they don't suit your and our purpose. But to examine their implications, and imagine the string of choices that led to their selection. As recorded by Seneca the Younger:

Quote

HOSPES HIC BENE MANEBIS, HIC SUMMUM BONUM VOLUPTAS EST

Or in English;

Quote

Stranger, here you will do well to tarry; here our highest good is pleasure.