

Infinity and the Expanding Universe

Post by "Don" of July 24, 2020 at 8:36 PM

Quote from Cassius

Right -- so long as the infinite has no boundary, then there's no "other side" for god to live on, and any gods that do exist must live in our own universe. Good point.

Ah! But don't the Epicurean gods live in the intermundia... And couldn't that be the space between the universes of the multiverse? 😊 Just throwing that out there.