

Episode Thirty-Three - More on The Implications of the Colorless Atoms

Post by "Godfrey" of August 28, 2020 at 1:20 AM

Maybe this is too simplistic, but Don in #11 you asked a question because you were feeling unease (pain) regarding an idea. By asking the question you were able to gather more data, and based on that data and the background activity of your prolepses you were able to "assuage your pain." That, in a nutshell, is one example of how I understand the process of the Canon to work.