

Stoic Objections to Epicurean Doctrine on Infinity of The Universe

Post by “Cassius” of September 1, 2020 at 7:11 AM

So when you say you can't rule out his thesis, what do you see his thesis being?

Because yes this seems valid to be a valid approach to me: "Epicurus does say all the alternatives are possible or permissible or allowed" ... when you qualify that these possibilities have some evidence to support them, even evidence by analogy, and you qualify that the particular alternative does not have evidence against it to disqualify it.