That will be great Don and thank you. It looks like the version I quoted is Bailey from his "Extant

VI. LIFE OF EPICURUS 165

The internal sensations they say are two, pleasure and pain, which occur to every living creature, and the one is akin to nature and the other alien : by means of these two choice and avoidance are determined. Of investigations some concern actual things, others mere words. This is a brief summary of the division of their philosophy and their views on the criterion of truth.

Now we must proceed to the letter.
