Thank you for your reply, Cassius. I see the little picture icon that allows for a web link to an image, but I can't figure out how to upload an image from my phone.

About feelings being our best guide to truth... Is it the philosophy that Nature actively created the pleasure/pain faculty in us to guide us towards wise action (implying a kind of providence), or would Epicurus have actually seen it as modern evolutionary theory would: a byproduct of natural selection?
