

Access to conversation denied

Post by “Godfrey” of September 8, 2019 at 5:54 PM

Cassius, I'm unable to answer or start a conversation. The message "Error Message 403 Forbidden Access to this resource on the server is denied" keeps popping up. I've tried to answer on two Android devices and a Windows computer and get the same popup.

Regarding the Skype discussion, I was sorry to miss it and plan to join in in the future. I do have a lot going on for the next few weeks and so may be sporadic in attending, but not through lack of desire 🙌

Cheers!

Godfrey thank you for reporting this! I know that this past week I saw some glitches but I am not able to confirm this particular glitch. Could you try logging out, and then logging back in? In one situation that was weird for me that solved the issue.

I will post an announcement to see if others experience this.

And not only thank you for reporting the error, but thanks for the comment on getting back to the skype conference. I was worried that we had lost you for some reason! 😊

Also, Godfrey, when you get a chance to test conversations again, please let us know. We need to track down this bug until it is squashed.

It seems to work now, I just posted an answer to a conversation. 👍

I didn't log out and back in: I've got to find my password before I do that lol
