

Elli Pensa Video / Reading Letter to Menoecus

Post by “Cassius” of June 2, 2023 at 1:00 PM

I thought we had this posted somewhere but perhaps not, and I am thinking that some might find it interesting to hear the letter Menoecus read by someone with a modern accent. Thanks to Elli for doing this several years ago. I think I have one of her reading the opening (at least) in Greek, so I will look for that too.

For those curious: those verses and music at the end after they Epitaph of Seikilos:

Here's Luke Ranieri singing it in several historical pronunciations, including modern Greek:

Here is a version with some of the letter read in Greek.

I seem to remember that there might be a typo in one of these videos -- apologies for that, but I posted anyway because the audio is the important part.
