Thank you for your work in producing this Kalosyni! Since it's a just a brief video for use on the front page of the channel it's not extremely detailed, but it sure is a lot better than what was there before, and having a "regular person" sound adds a lot too. In the future I would like to see us do a lot more multimedia like that since it generally produces much longer lasting benefits than just text. Even short and simple videos can have a big impact.

Kudos, Kalosyni ! Well-chosen images, well-read -- and a simple introduction to the pleasure/pain principle that would be hard to beat: neither too simplistic nor too complicated for the beginner. Well done!
