

AFewDaysInAthens.com Back Online

My project for the "Easter Weekend" is to get my older websites moved to a new host and out of the clutches of the infuriating "Godaddy." I am going through them sequentially with the smaller ones first, with NewEpicurean.com to be last. [Epicureanfriends.com has always been safely out of reach of the "upselling" mania of Godaddy.

If you haven't seen AFewDaysInAthens.com before, it's a website devoted to the best non-ancient original composition of Epicurean theory, and it is well worth reading. Very rarely does one come across a reading recommendation by Thomas Jefferson himself! If you come across any dead links, typos, or other issues, please let me know.
