

New "Site Map" Page

Post by "Cassius" of June 9, 2024 at 9:41 PM

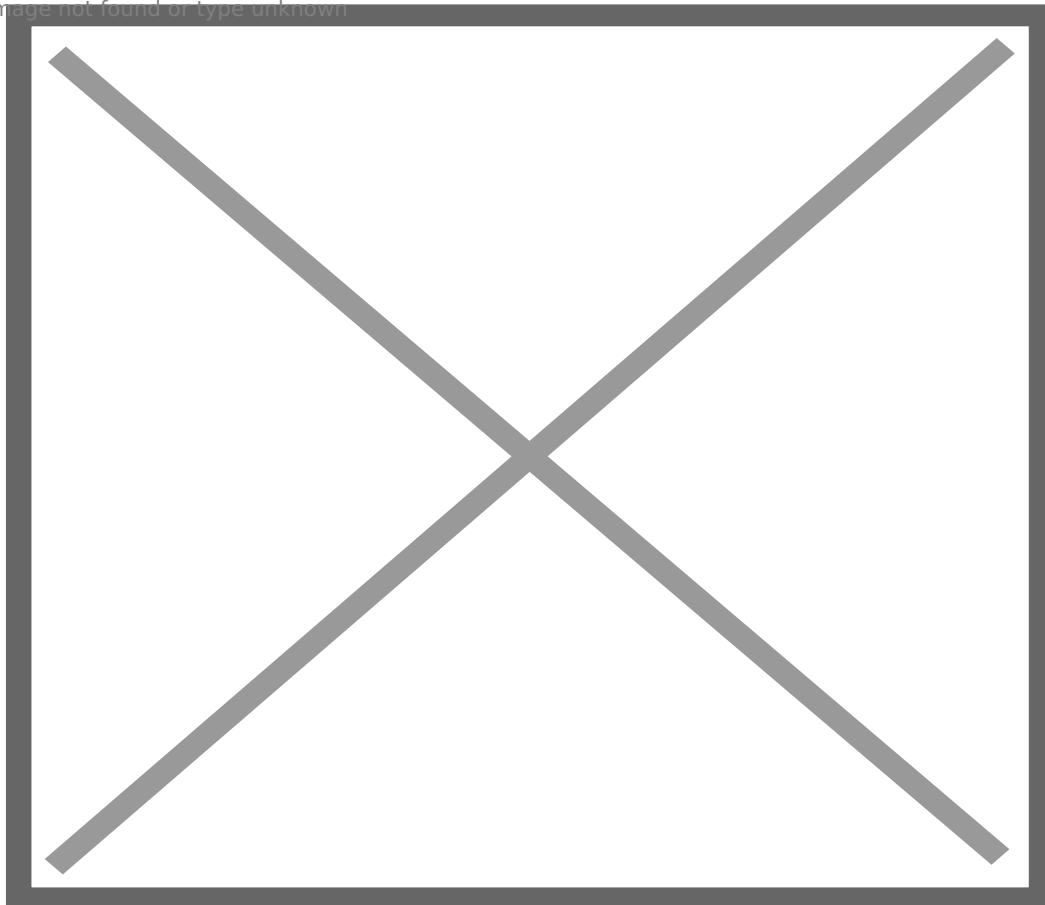

In hopes of easing confusion caused by major "theme" revisions and swapping menus around so no one can find anything anymore, we've added a significant new page that needs a thread of its own to announce.

We now have a SITE MAP page which sets out to list every major page on the site in a single place where they can (hopefully) be found when all other navigation tools fail.

If you see a significant feature of page that's not included in this list, please let us know and we'll add it. I'd like to maintain this page over time as a "master list" of all events and activities here, so if you see something is missing let us know and we'll add it in.

This page will henceforth be accessible as the second item under the "Home" drop-down menu, and we'll probably link it other places as well.
