

"Wish List" For Future Articles At EpicureanFriends

Post by "Cassius" of September 18, 2024 at 9:07 AM

Today I've set up a page to keep track of a list of articles or materials that would be particularly helpful to have, but which don't currently exist (at least in the forum we need it at the forum for general reference).

I have seeded the list with three articles, one each for physics, canonics, and ethics, but I would like to expand it to include a wider list that we can keep pinned as a list of suggestions that we'd like to see people write about.

I suspect we have a considerable number of participants and even lurkers who occasionally have time on their hands, and this list would provide food for thought about how they might assist us in preparing general-interest materials about Epicurean topics.

Please feel free to add topics to this discussion thread, and we can incorporate them into a master ongoing list, to which we will link from the front page of the forum.

167