Happy Twentieth of December!

This is a time of year that can bring great happiness or great sadness, depending on one's circumstances. Just like last year, I want to create an opportunity for those of us who frequently communicate as students of Epicurus to get together in a live chat on Christmas day. I will set up a chat room on Epicureanfriends.com like last year, and also perhaps provide a skype link where we can perhaps say hello more directly. We had good participation last year so I hope you can drop by!

I will post more details about links as we get closer to the 25th.
