Yes Oscar I have that noted in the side bar on the home page, but maybe I need to feature it more prominently. Just for my info what design are you finding best for you? Dark or light?

I constantly swap the colors and themes. I get bored easily 😊. I prefer the dark colors, it's easier on the eyes. Like using night mode on a Kindle or iPad.

The blinding white background can be too much in the AM when checking messages. 😎

Seems to me I recall someone saying that they worked in an office without much light. Dark is great there and I use it at home, but my office is fairly bright and i can't see the dark as well there, so I guess it is a good thing it is easy to change!

Unfortunately I work in an office with no windows. Upwards of 12 hours a day. Of course during the winter months it's intolerable...dark in the morning when I wake up and dark when I get out. Add the New England snow into the mix and it's a surefire way to get SAD.

But spring is hopefully around the corner!

Eye strain due to iPhone screens and computer screens is a sure thing these days. I try, during my down time at work, to not just blankly stare at the front page of the news or social media anymore. I'll often just look away for a bit and try to refresh my eyes.

Yes, yes, yes! 😎

New Years is definitely a wasted holiday in the midst of winter. Just a few more weeks until the opening out of the underworld is visible!
