find an old book:

ip...;view=1up;seq=6

Does anyone have "partner access" (perhaps through a university library) where they could download the full PDF and provide me access to a copy. The book is of course long out of copyright, but the site only allows one to read it, or download it page by page, and I would like to get a local copy for bookmarking important sections.

Interestingly I see this title page references St. Evremont -- would that be friend of Ninon De L'Enclos?

Looks like this link will get it off Google books -- should have looked there first! Thanks!
