

State of the Forum - Week of April 8, 2019

Post by "Cassius" of April 9, 2019 at 9:16 AM

Just wanted to post a quick note to thank the regulars for checking in so frequently. We're now having close to ten people check in daily, and that's the best we have had since the forum started.

If anyone has any suggestions or issues with use of the forum please post and we'll try to address them. We recently had a few comments about unreadable text when pasting from Microsoft Word or another word processor. That doesn't happen if you compose in a plain text editor, but if you find that it happens to you, just highlight the text, click the paintbrush icon (labeled font color) and click the "Remove Color" option at the bottom.

Thanks again for your time and conversation here!